a history of Arizona

“THE HISTORY OF ARIZONA IS NOT A LINEAR PROGRESSION FROM WILDERNESS TO CIVILIZATION. INSTEAD IT IS A SERIES OF ADVANCES AND RETREATS, ACCOMMODATIONS AND BLUNDERS, BOOMS AND BUSTS. MANY PEOPLES HAVE LIVED HERE OVER THE PAST TWELVE THOUSAND YEARS OR MORE, BUT THE OVERWHELMING IMPRESSION THEIR HISTORY CONVEYS IS THE TRANSITORY NATURE OF HUMAN OCCUPATION IN THIS ARID LAND. THAT IS WHY HISTORY IS SO IMPORTANT. THE LESSONS OF THE PAST MAY NOT PREVENT MISTAKES IN THE FUTURE, BUT AT LEAST THEY CAN HELP US INHABIT A PARTICULAR LANDSCAPE AND LEARN A LITTLE ABOUT ITS MYSTERIES, BEAUTIES, AND CRUELITIES. OTHERWISE, WE ARE NOTHING MORE THAN CARPETBAGGERS OR TOURISTS.”

THOMAS SHERIDAN IS A RESEARCH ANTHROPOLOGIST AT THE SOUTHWEST CENTER AND A PROFESSOR OF ANTHROPOLOGY AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA. HE IS A LIFE-LONG ARIZONAN.
